

Ending Homelessness One Family at a Time

Interfaith's One campaign seeks to end homelessness in North San Diego County, one family at a time. The average cost of $10,000 per family provides a month of room and board, as well as case management services including therapy, job training and customized support to move a family into stable, long-term housing.

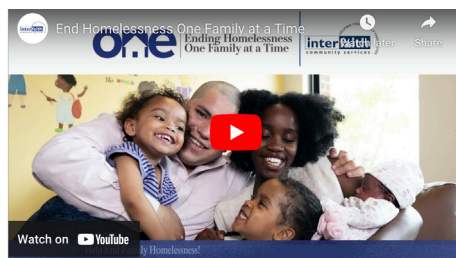

Donations of any amount are gratefully accepted. For more information, contact communications@interfaithservices.org.

Help Us End Family Homelessness in North County!

In partnership with the Bezos Day 1 Families Fund, Interfaith's One Campaign aims to raise $5 million over the next three years to end family homelessness in North County, one family at a time.

When we receive your gift, we'll send you a few stories of families currently staying at our shelter, and specific ways your support will help them. You'll also receive periodic updates on all families who have moved out of homelessness and the hopeful future you have helped to provide.

To donate, visit www.interfaithservices.org/donate/ and select the "One Family at a Time Fund" in the designation drop-down menu.
